

GIULIANO LOMONTE - BIO

Giuliano Lomonte hails from Andria in the south of Italy, though a healthy passion for music has long coaxed him out its gorgeous Mediterranean climes. As a clubber around Europe, he nurtured the love for electronic music—particularly deep, tech, hypnotic, extended cuts pressed to vinyl. It's the sound he mines as a DJ, and you can regularly hear him teasing out the groove at Berlin clubs like Hoppetosse, Club der Visionaere, Wilde Renate, Watergate, Tresor or around the globe at festivals like Sunwaves, Mioritmic, Get Out Festival in Lima (Peru), Fabrika Festival and many more.

Giuliano Lomonte is undoubtedly someone who doesn't stand still. Having conquered many dancefloors, whether as a DJ or with his rolling microhouse cuts and spot-on production, he has a knack for keeping the crowd moving and inspiring the audience. Over the past few years, he cemented himself as a major player in the contemporary electronic music scene and built a solid network of musical affiliations, attracting the attention of some of the scene's best-known labels, including Ultrastretch, Pressure Traxx, Brouqade, Raum...Musik, Half Baked as well as his own imprint Point of View. His love for what he does is reflected in his productions, which include rolling basslines, progressive patterns as well as blissful and trippy meanders, something he continually pursues and develops with each release.
