Henriku moved from Oslo to Berlin in 2016, where he studied music production. He now lives in the capital of Germany, where he produces and plays records. Henriku is a familiar face in the Berlin club scene and has played in clubs such as Sisyphos, Renate, Hoppetosse and Club der Visionäre. Stylistically, Henriku is driven by queerness, minimalism and a sprinkle of 90s nostalgia.

“New York Popcorn” was the first 12” released under the Henriku alias, together with his friend and colleague Alexander Skancke. The statement piece resides on Alexander Skancke’s label Quirk.

Roughly half a year later, Henriku’s first solo EP saw the light of day on Det Gode Selskab. The four-track solo EP is called Rush Fantasy. The EP features queer-infused tech/house music.

The most recent is the celebrated EP “Happy Birthday” alongside Alexander Skancke. Additionally, a new group project going by TBH.
